I love the natural world and situations in which humankind and nature have achieved a harmonious balance. I am inspired to highlight the tiny flowers which we normally don't stop to notice, and to capture common flowers in new and interesting ways. In my life experience, travel plays a large and important part in my expression.

My collages are an invitation to look beyond the apparent. I use recycled papers to create works of art that look like paintings from a distance. The more natural subject matter begins with observation in my sketch book, and then I work into the layering of the artwork.
